

What's a good gift for Mother's Day

The man is a maniac, thought I. "What a life for my son!" said the Earl. What a life! Of course no decent person will let him into his house." Lady Laura did not know what to say to this, for in truth Lord Chiltern was not fond of staying at the houses of persons whom the Earl would have called decent. "So long as I live," he answered. "'Orrible murder of a woman. Shockin' details. Speshul," repeating it over and over again in a hoarse, expressionless monotone.
